Introduction to Writing Services.

University of Guelph Graduate Student Orientation, Fall 2020

Transcript:

As a grad student, you're going to be expected to write a lot of different types of papers and assignments. But don’t let this stress you out. Writing Services at the University of Guelph is here to support you. Hi, I’m Kim. Hi, I’m Sarah. Hi, I’m Lenore. Hi, I’m Jodie.

Writing Services is located in the McLaughlin Library in the Writing Centre on the first floor in the Library Learning Commons. We are here to support you with your writing at all stages of the writing process.

You can also meet with us online. Receive advice on clarity and style. Learn how to better organize your ideas and structure your essays, articles, and dissertations.

You can book an appointment with us on the library website. Register on our online booking system. It’s so easy, you can do it on your phone.

Hi, my name is Ashna, and I am a Graduate Writing Support TA. During a consultation, I can support you with various aspects of your writing. This can include understanding your assignment expectations, developing a thesis and incorporating evidence, and also understanding feedback from your professors. I look forward to seeing you!

Also check out our writing resources and workshops page. We have many resources online that provide guidance on academic integrity, research papers, thesis statements, writing genres, plus lots more. And we have videos, handouts, and LibGuides.

We offer many different writing workshops, such as our Writing in the Sciences series, the Brain Food Thesis and Dissertation series, which is available online through CourseLink and includes many of our popular workshops such as formulating your research question.

And don’t forget our Dissertation Boot Camp, which is a weeklong intensive program for graduate students who are finished their coursework and beginning to write their thesis.

We also offer English Language Support. If English is an additional language for you, check out our website for the different ways that we can support you, such as Talk like an Academic and our EAL Graduate Writing Camp.

In our EAL programs, practices strategies for speaking in academic settings. And build your confidence. You can also meet individually with our English Language Support specialist and our Writing TAs to strengthen your skills when speaking, writing, listening, and reading in a Canadian university context.

Consultations. Workshops and programs. English Language Support. Videos, Handouts, Guides. The Writing Room Online. Writing Services - We are here to support you!
Have questions? Contact Writing Services at writing@uoguelph.ca or check out our website at www.lib.uoguelph.ca. You'll be glad you did it!

Let's stay connected. Follow us on social. @uglibrary on Twitter and Instagram, and McLaughlinLibrary on Facebook.

[End of Transcript]